

Primary Intervention

The overarching aim of the intervention in the Primary phase of The Brookfield School is to support pupils to remain in mainstream education.

We can accept a limited number of pupils in our specialist classes for short term intervention placements.

As well as following the national curriculum, we focus on strategies which support self-regulation, the development of social skills and building self-esteem and resilience through 1:1 and small group activities. For some intervention pupils, there is also the opportunity to experience outdoor learning at Dinedor during their time with us.

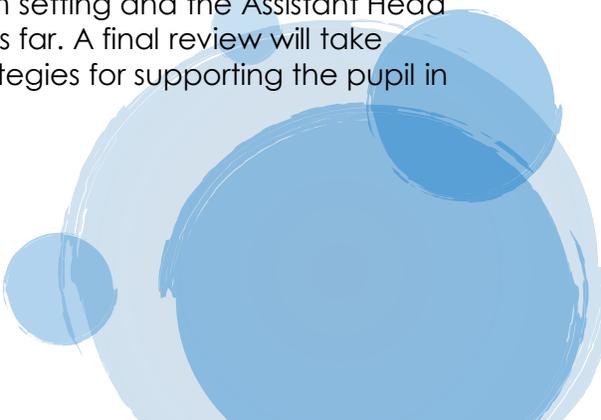

Schools may refer pupils directly to the Head Teacher or through a joint referral with the Herefordshire Behaviour Team, the Social Inclusion Officer or SEN Team. A referral form is available to download on our school website. When completing the referral form, please let us know all relevant information including any safeguarding concerns or Children's Services input so that we can provide a safe environment for each child.

Placements are usually for a term at a cost of £70 per day.

There will be weekly feedback from the teachers within the classes in which the intervention pupils are placed. We request weekly feedback also from our pupils' mainstream settings.

All mainstream schools are to arrange and provide their own transport; we do not fund transport costs.

Placements are usually for one term (12 weeks). Prior to the conclusion of an initial 6-week period, parents/carers, a representative from the mainstream setting and the Assistant Head Teacher will meet for an interim review of the placement thus far. A final review will take place prior to the conclusion of the placement at which strategies for supporting the pupil in the mainstream setting will be discussed.
